

Review Guidelines

We would like you to share all your experiences with agents and service providers, whether they are good, average or bad. All we ask is that you follow a couple of simple guidelines.

Our guidelines and standards

Our aim is to keep the content friendly without limiting the freedom for people to express strong opinion. Our guidelines and standards will always apply regardless of the review sentiment.

Promotional content is not allowed and will be removed, including the inclusion of email addresses and telephone numbers.

Derogatory, personal, political, sexist or racist comments are forbidden and will not be allowed on the website.

Comments should be appropriate for a global audience. Discriminatory remarks, threats, sexually explicit remarks and any attempts to incite violence or the promotion of illegal activity are not allowed on this website. Profanity, in any language, including profanity through using creative spelling and codes is not allowed.

All reviews should be genuine and unique. Reviews are valuable to users who are looking for good quality services and also to the businesses that the review is about. Reviews should be factual, original and unbiased. Any material you post should be yours and in your own words.

We closely monitor reviews. Attempts by people to bring down the rating of a competitor by submitting falsely negative reviews will not be tolerated.

Whether negative or positive, we will post every review as long as our review guidelines are met.
